Maureen Haney, a specialist in residential real estate with Coldwell Banker Millennium in Glendora, has been awarded the Coldwell Banker International President's Elite Award. This award was presented to Maureen at the Coldwell Banker International Business Conference in San Francisco on February 18, 2006. This award is the second highest award category within the Coldwell Banker system and only earned by less than three percent of all agents in the Coldwell Banker system.

"As a Top Producing Agent, Maureen is committed to the philosophy and ideas that Coldwell Banker is founded on. She puts her clients first and believes that by doing the best possible job her business will flourish through referrals. She has put the systems and people in place to allow her time to be spent on what she does best, marketing her listings, finding homes or investment property for buyers and follow through with the details, through and past the close of escrow," said Phyllis Fritz, President of Coldwell Banker Millennium, "It is an honor to have Maureen on our team."

Maureen is an active member of the Citrus Valley Board of Realtors, the California Association of Realtors and the National Association of Realtors. Maureen also has received her Council of Residential Specialists CRS "Certified Residential Specialist" this year and her GRI Graduate Realtor Institute in 2004 from the California Association of Realtors.
